University of Phoenix Awarded for Service to Military Community

University of Phoenix has recently earned some honors for serving the military and veteran communities. As a testament to their commitment to the military population, CivilianJobs.com recently named University of Phoenix as one of the 2009 Most Valuable Employers (MVE) for Military. The MVE for Military was open to all U.S.-based companies, and the winners and finalists were selected based on surveys in which employers outlined their 2009 recruiting, training and retention plans that best serve military service members and veterans. The CivilianJobs.com MVE for Military serves to help military-experienced job seekers identify the top employers to target for civilian careers.

University of Phoenix was also named by Military Advanced Education as one of the country's top 20 colleges and universities favorable to military personnel. The honor takes into consideration the number of military students served, the availability of military scholarships, and other policies benefiting military members and veterans. More than 2,000 colleges and universities participated in last year's survey, and University of Phoenix was selected among the top 20 by an independent panel of judges from both the educational and the military fields.

In addition, The National Committee for Employer Support of the Guard and Reserve (ESGR) recognized University of Phoenix with a federal award for its support of National Guard and Reserve personnel in its employment. The organization highlighted employers who provide "above and beyond" support that may include pay differential to offset the loss of wages and extension of health care benefits while employees are mobilized. Such actions, according to ESGR, are critical in maintaining the strength and readiness of the nation's National Guard and Reserve units. The Arizona Committee for ESGR presented the award to the University, which is headquartered in Phoenix.

"University of Phoenix has always held the deepest respect for the men and women who have served and continue to serve our country," said Mike Bibbee, Vice President, University of Phoenix Military Division. "These recognitions further acknowledge our long-term commitment to providing members of the military with access to a quality education."

University of Phoenix serves a large and diverse military population, with nearly 29,000 active-duty military and their spouses, as well as veterans, enrolled in its various degree programs. More than 7,200 military members or veterans graduated from the University last year. University of Phoenix understands that frequent moves and deployments make it difficult for military members to take advantage of their educational benefits, which is why it has developed numerous programs to help serve the needs of military personnel while they are serving our country. The University works closely with education officers at hundreds of military bases around the globe to ensure it is providing the support and information necessary to help military personnel determine which educational programs best fit their lifestyle.

University of Phoenix Supports Expanded Military Spouse Career Advancement Account Program

What is the Military Spouse Career Advancement Account (MyCAA) program?

On the heels of the successful pilot program that was launched in 2008, the Department of Defense (DoD) has expanded the MyCAA program. This means that military spouses who are interested in pursuing degree programs, licenses or credentials leading to careers in high growth, high demand portable career fields, may be eligible for up to $6,000 in benefits.

What Do MyCAA funds cover?

MyCAA financial assistance is available for expenses such as post-secondary education and training, tuition, licensing, and credentialing fees. This includes associate's, bachelor's, master's, doctoral and post-doctoral degree programs, continuing education classes, professional associations at conferences, Bar, CPA, and other similar exams, state certifications for teachers, medical professionals and similar licensed professionals, and services required to become employed in portable career fields such as fingerprinting, security checks and drug tests.

Are there any expenses that MyCAA does not cover?

The costs for computers, school application fees, graduation fees, student activity cards, child care, parking, transportation, medical services or testing fees, are not qualified expenses under the MyCAA program. If the cost of a course includes books, supplies or other necessary equipment, MyCAA will cover that cost.

University of Phoenix Lowers Military Tuition!

University of Phoenix is extremely pleased to announce a new lower tuition rate for active duty, reserve and guard military members, as well as their spouses. Tuition has been reduced to $250 per credit hour, effective July 1, 2009.

G.I. Bill Deferment!

In keeping with our Military-Friendly policy, University of Phoenix is offering active and prior service veterans who are using G I Bill, a 60-day deferral of their tuition charges in order to allow time for the student candidate to process and receive his/her GI Bill benefits. This policy allows for a smoother enrollment transition.

Yellow Ribbon Program

The Yellow Ribbon program is part of the new Post 9/11 GI Bill — known as Chapter 33. University of Phoenix is proud to participate in the program and has agreed to cover 50% of the cost of the difference between the maximum state rate and any shortfall or difference between the maximum rate and actual tuition cost.

To be eligible for the Yellow Ribbon program, a veteran must have served at least 36 months of active duty after Sept. 10, 2001; been honorably discharged from active duty for a service-connected disability and served at least 30 continuous days after Sept. 10, 2001; or be a dependent of a veteran who is eligible to transfer his or her entitlement in the program.

Under the program, University of Phoenix agrees to pay, for eligible students, part of the tuition and fees that are not covered under Chapter 33. The amount the University covers is matched by the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs.

University of Phoenix Celebrates Memorial Day in a Memorable Way

As a Memorial Day tribute to those who have lost their lives serving our country, approximately 50 volunteers from University of Phoenix's military division placed 7,000 American flags at the company's Riverpoint complex and its various campus locations in Phoenix. The freedom flags were sold to University of Phoenix staff for a $5 donation, with 100 percent of the proceeds benefiting the USO and Salute a Soldier Foundation. The flags were placed at both locations on May 21-22, and then were delivered to the National Memorial Cemetery of Arizona for placement on the veterans' graves in honor of Memorial Day. Similar tributes were created at many of the University's campus locations nationwide, with the money raised being donated to local military organizations within the communities they serve.

Another way the University celebrated the holiday this year was by inviting students, faculty, alumni and staff to pay tribute to military heroes by signing their name to its Memorial Day Virtual Tribute Wall (<http://www.apollogrp.edu/Memorialday>). At this writing, over 5,000 guests have paid their tributes by signing the wall.

Additionally, University of Phoenix has teamed up with AT&T and Cell Phones for Soldiers. Employees, students, faculty and staff are invited to visit their local campus and donate their used cell phones or wireless devices to drop box locations at campuses and locations company-wide. The cell phones are then turned in to the organization and calling cards are sent to the troops overseas. This will be an ongoing program.

Video from University of Phoenix Memorial Day events were shown in Times Square.

Overseas Scholarships

In our ongoing efforts to lead the way in military-friendly education, University of Phoenix is pleased to announce that it has established scholarship opportunities for overseas military individuals in the European and Asia/Pacific theaters who wish to further their education. In each of these theaters, up to eight (8) $4,000 scholarships will be awarded to individuals pursuing either a Master of Business Administration or Master of Arts in Education degree at a University of Phoenix on-ground campus in Europe and Asia. Scholarship award is a noncash credit to each recipient's University of Phoenix account to apply toward tuition and fees.

For additional information about these opportunities in the European theater, please contact Denny Bates at denny.bates@phoenix.edu.

For additional information about these opportunities in the Asia/Pacific theater, please contact Dr. Barbara Turner at Barb.Turner@phoenix.edu.

MyCAA Program

Who is eligible?

Eligible program participants are spouses of active duty members and activated members of the National Guard and Reserve Components. Eligibility for spouses of Guard and Reserve members starts at the date of the Alert or Warning Order for Military Recall or Mobilization, and carries through activation and deployment until 180 days following De-Mobilization.

How does a spouse enroll in the program?

Eligible spouses should establish a MyCAA account by visiting the MyCAA website <https://aiportal.acc.af.mil/mycaa>. At this site, one then provides spouse profile information so the DoD can verify MyCAA eligibility through DEERS. The MyCAA messaging system will notify the spouse of his/her eligibility status. For further assistance, spouses can call a Military OneSource Career/Education Consultant at 800.342.9647.

IMPORTANT: Military spouses who are military members themselves are not eligible as military members are already eligible for education benefits provided through the Military Voluntary Education Tuition Assistance (TA) Program. University of Phoenix Military Division is standing by to assist you with your education benefits. To get started, contact a University of Phoenix Military Enrollment Advisor now at 866.766.0766.

Troops to Teachers: A New Tour of Duty

University of Phoenix is proud to be one of the Troops to Teachers recommended schools. Recently, Troops to Teachers in Arizona, and University of Phoenix partnered to provide closer educational support to those troops interested in becoming teachers after military service.

The Department of Defense established the Troops to Teachers program in 1994, with the goal of recruiting quality candidates to teach in schools that serve students in high needs areas. As a result, Troops to Teachers has helped relieve teacher shortages in some of the most critical subject areas, including math, science, and special education.

The Online Patriot spoke with John Scheuer, Program Director of the Arizona Troops to Teachers office. We were enlightened to learn that every state across the country is served by one of the 32 offices, (some states are grouped and served by regional offices). The nationwide program is structured this way in order to help candidates deal individually with the certification requirements that vary from state to state. At Mr. Scheuer's office in Arizona, candidates are recruited nationally through the Troops to Teachers Website, through advertising in military publications, and seminars held on local military bases. Arizona Troops to Teachers visits military installations in the state quarterly, to speak with and inform potential troops who are good candidates for teaching when they return to civilian life. According to Scheuer, the military member's skills transfer to the classroom very well. A servicemember's people skills, sensitivity to cultural diversity, leadership, and management skills all serve well in the classroom environment. What's more, those troops who served as instructors in their military career, as a drill instructor, or at a technical school will find that much of the certification requirements may be met via their experience.

SEE AZ Troops to Teachers ON PG. 3

AZ Troops to Teachers

Since its inception, Troops to Teachers has helped over 11,000 troops become teachers. Arizona ranks 8th in the nation in this program, placing more than 430 troops in the classroom. Scheuer points out that he is very proud of the Arizona statistics. Nationwide, the statistics are also very impressive.

Teachers who go through the program maintain a higher retention rate than other teachers, topping 80% after 5 years in the field (the average retention rate for teachers is 50% after 5 years). Scheuer believes that a big part of the success is drawn from the very nature of the military member and their ability to focus on a goal or mission. Also, the program helps the candidate with the specific academic certification requirements of the state in which he or she will be teaching. Though Scheuer is in Arizona, his office can still aid candidates from local military bases who may later teach in another state. The program is centered on preparation for certification, and focuses on matching the candidate with a school to provide the education they need for their particular teaching goals; one that helps them lay out a workable path to meeting that goal. They also offer advisement on obtaining funding and benefits from various sources. The program helps place the candidate, and in some cases, bonuses are offered to teach in targeted schools.

The Online Patriot spoke to Gillian Burns, who served in the Navy as a nuclear engineer, and is currently pursuing her education degree at University of Phoenix through the Troops to Teachers Program. She praises the program as a great resource for networking and preparing to teach. Burns believes the program has helped lead her in the right direction. Arizona Troops to Teachers helped her develop a cover letter, resumé, teaching profiles, and provided her with interview tips. As a result, she has already landed a position teaching math just four months after registering with the program!

Clearly, Troops to Teachers is very successful in helping create quality teachers who love what they're doing. For more information, contact John Scheuer at 800.830.2134 or Larry Martinez at 800.609.9207.

Peter Vapor

“Mission Accomplished”

By Lindsay Strauss

Peter Vapor knew that he wanted a college degree. However, his parents could not support his endeavor which left him to venture on his own. In September of 1991 Vapor made the decision to enlist into the United States Navy as a non-designated (no formal school) Airman. Scrubbing toilets was not exactly what Vapor had in mind for his future, but he knew that with a little hard work and dedication small doors would begin to open to his advantage.

While beginning a family of his own, in 1993, and working as an Aviation Maintenance Administrator (PO1/E-6) he continued working hard and keeping his eyes on the prize. He was determined to make his way up in ranks, and ultimately become MCPO/E-9, the highest enlisted rank in the Navy. However, Vapor soon found out that his goal was about to be delayed due to his current position. The position he held as an Aviation Maintenance Administrator unfortunately had a poor advancement rate of only eight percent Navy-wide. Vapor realized he had a slim chance of ever making it to MCPO/E-9.

In 2002, at the age of 32 and 12 years in the service, Vapor started to shift his focus to Officer Candidate School. As he began to apply for OCS he soon realized there were two concerns that could prevent him from becoming an officer; his age and the lack of a bachelor's degree. Vapor translated this as “pressure and time.” Luckily with his military training and some junior college experience he did not have to start from scratch. It was extremely crucial that he receive his degree in time; otherwise, he would miss his opportunity to be selected for OCS due to age requirements. Vapor selected University of Phoenix because its degree programs are specifically designed for working adults with selected courses pre-outlined. In June of 2002 Vapor began his quest with University of Phoenix to obtain a bachelors degree. Having to juggle a family, work and school was not easy, but as long as he stayed focused he knew he was going to make it!

Vapor was truly inspired by a University of Phoenix quote: “There are two kinds of students, some are thinking about going back to school and others are thinking about their graduation.” He placed the quote on his wall at work next to his class schedule and whenever he completed a course, he highlighted it and placed a stamp that read “Mission Accomplished.” Through his efforts and accomplishments, Vapor inspired many of his co-workers to go to college as well.

In March of 2004 Peter Vapor graduated from University of Phoenix with a bachelor's degree in Business Management. Exactly one year later he was selected for Officer Candidate School (OCS) at the age of 34, and three months after that he was commissioned as an Ensign in the United States Navy. “It was one of the proudest moments in my life... forever grateful UOP!” says Vapor.

According to the OCS Admissions representative, Vapor was selected for OCS because “the board was impressed with a high GPA from a respected University.” Vapor comments, “...I am a living testimony of an Enlisted person starting out from E-1 and becoming a Naval Officer. There should be no more excuses.” As of May 26, 2009 LTJG Peter Vapor is once again attending University of Phoenix—only this time it is for his master's degree in Business Administration.

Meet Larry Martinez

Larry Martinez

University of Phoenix is proud to employ Larry Martinez as our Military Education Liaison for the Southwest Region. Larry is a veteran Non-commissioned Officer in US Army Intelligence, who served during Desert Shield 1991 and Operation Iraqi Freedom in 2003. He graduated with an AA degree in German Language from the Defense Language Institute, Monterey, CA, and studied Arabic at the Foreign Language Training Center Europe, Garmisch Germany. Larry is currently completing his Business Marketing degree at University of Phoenix.

Larry is dedicated to his job. He states, "I understand the importance of higher education for all, and I enjoy assisting service members, veterans, and their spouses with understanding the different degree program options offered at University of Phoenix. I also remain informed on education benefits and assistance offered by the Department of Defense, Veterans Administration and state veterans' agencies. It is very rewarding to guide and assist service members and veterans in pursuing their educational goals. It's a pleasure to be able to work with active military components, and to visit the various military installations on the west coast."

Larry is the point of contact for the Arizona, Nevada, and California regions.

You can contact Larry at 800.609.9207.

Ph.D./Nursing and Educational Specialist Degrees Start This Summer

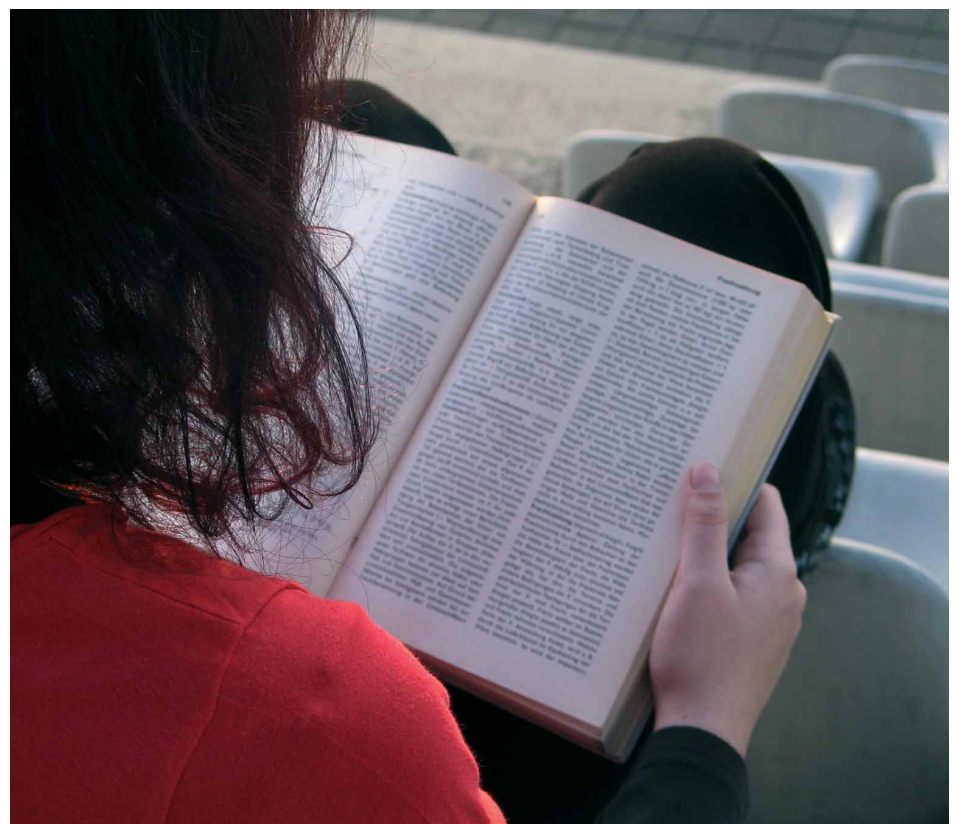

The School of Advanced Studies is pleased to announce the addition of two new programs. The first is an Educational Specialist degree.

The Educational Specialist (Ed.S.) degree program provides the necessary foundation for teachers seeking to enter into administrative roles as well as current administrators seeking professional advancement. The Ed.S. is a post-master's degree, but not a doctorate. It does not include a dissertation or residency requirements. It is 100% online and takes about two years to complete.

The second degree is a Doctor of Philosophy in Nursing.

Our School of Advanced Studies (SAS) Doctor of Philosophy in Nursing program is designed to prepare learners to:

- Meet the challenge of educating the next generation of nursing professionals.
- Strategically manage and guide dynamic health care systems.
- Think analytically and critically to influence the future of health care.

University of Phoenix Military Division Food Drive

As summer approached, an especially difficult time of the year for local food banks to keep food on the shelves, the Military Division of University of Phoenix reached out to help the United Food Bank (UFB) through a food drive and fund raiser in May 2009 (<http://www.unitedfoodbank.org/>).

Through the generosity and the spirit of the Military Division, the employees exemplified the UFB's slogan of "Neighbors Helping Neighbors" by collecting 2,994 pounds of food and $5,400. The donation translates into 25,000 meals that will go to those who are hungry in our community. The efforts in planning and collection of food and funds, greatly enhanced the United Food Bank's ability to distribute food to over 240 agencies. The Military Division used several tools to help in the collections of food and money for the fundraiser, including a golf tournament that was held as part of the fund raising effort.

University of Phoenix Enrollment Manager Joseph Williford headed up the United Food Bank Food Drive.

On the Road

University of Phoenix has a team of liaisons and business development specialists who travel to military installations around the world. The team typically makes approximately 250 visits every year. Representatives conduct informational meetings, counsel potential students, participate in education fairs, and forge relationships with the military community. Look for a University of Phoenix representative on the following dates:
